Product Description

0.3-3.0mm Profiled Steel Sheet For Steel Building With Standard Baodu Packing

Product Description:

Baodu steel plate products serve as the structural substrate in roof and wall construction. Installed directly over structural steel, and provides a solid work surface for the installation of insulation, weatherproofing of wall and roof.

These products are also used to build mezzanines and canopies, and the attractive corrugated underside of Baodu steel plate can be left exposed for open ceiling design.

Seven popular types in a variety of gauges are available. The perforated steel plates are also available complete with acoustical perforations and an appropriate sound absorption material for noise attenuation – a perfect choice for gymnasiums, auditoriums, and natatoriums.

Advantage:

1. Standard wall panels commonly used in industrial buildings.
2. It is directly connected to the secondary structure by screws and has strong wind resistance.
3. The wave height and trough design make the wall panel have a stronger three-dimensional effect and better appearance.
4. High standard, high strength fasteners provide excellent weather tightness.
5. High effective utilization, easy installation, economical and practical.
